Abstract

E-Procurement is a procedure for the procurement of goods or services whose implementation is carried out electronically based on the internet by utilizing information and communication technology facilities. The purpose of E-Procurement is to improve a transparent, fair, effective, and efficient procurement system for goods and services. E-Procurement procedures in both the Government and BUMN require a regulation that must be obeyed by the organizers of the procurement of goods and services as well as prospective providers of goods and services. One of the state-owned companies, namely PT. Angkasa Pura Support carries out the procedure for the procurement of goods and services or an electronic auction called E-Procurement. This E-Procurement system brings up the entire process of auction activities starting from announcements, submitting bids, selection, to the announcement of auction winners online. The method in the E-Procurement process used by PT. Angkasa Pura Support is a direct appointment. The results obtained from this final report are to know the electronic procurement process carried out by PT. Angkasa Pura Support through APPRO to PT. Angkasa Pura I by using the direct appointment method.
