Abstract

During the 2018-2022 period, there was a decrease in the Jakarta Islamic Index (JII). This condition is inversely proportional to the increase in the number of Islamic stock investors. This study is intended to explain the relationship between bitcoin, gold prices and world oil prices on JII for the period July 2018 – July 2022. A quantitative approach was chosen in this study. The use of data in this study is of the type of time series data based on the monthly closing prices of bitcoin, gold, world oil and JII. Multiple regression analysis was chosen in analyzing this study. The results of this study are that the gold price variable has a significant effect on JII, while the bitcoin variable and world oil prices have no significant effect on JII shares partially. Simultaneously, bitcoin variables, gold prices, and world oil prices have a significant effect on JII.
