The sample in this study was 469 LKPD of district/city from all over Indonesia for the 2021 period which had been audited and selected using a purposive sampling method. The analysis technique used is path analysis using Smart PLS 3 software with a significance level of 5%. The results of the test show that wealth, intergovernmental revenue, and local taxes have an effect on local government financial performance, while size has no effect on local government financial performance. In the moderation relationship, capital expenditure is only able to moderate the relationship between regional taxes and local government financial performance, while capital expenditure is not able to moderate the relationship between size, wealth, and intergovernmental revenue on local government financial performance.
