

The Influence of Capital Intensity, Advertising Intensity, and Managerial ownership On Tax Avoidance

By Muhammad Daffa Kadarusman

Abstract

This study aims to empirically examine and analyze the effect of Capital Intensity, Advertising Intensity, and Managerial ownership on Tax Avoidance. The study uses a quantitative method with secondary data from manufacturing companies in the consumer goods subsector during the period 2019-2023 listed on the IDX. Purposive sampling technique was used to select the sample, and panel data regression analysis was employed to analyze the data using STATA 17 software. The results of this study indicate that Capital Intensity has a positive effect on tax avoidance. However, Advertising Intensity and Managerial ownership do not have an impact on tax avoidance.
