

The Role of the Covid-19 Pandemic in Moderating the Effect of Financial Distress, Managerial Ability, and Audit Committee on Earnings Management

By Sisca Budyarti

Abstract

This study aims to examine the effect of Financial Distress, Managerial Ability, and Audit Committee on Earnings Management, with the COVID-19 Pandemic as a moderating variable. The data used are secondary data obtained from financial reports accessed through www.idx.co.id or the official websites of the respective companies. The research sample consists of 23 companies in the tourism, hotel, and restaurant subsectors. Samples were collected using a purposive sampling method, and data analysis was carried out using STATA version 17 with the Fixed Effect Model (FEM). The results show that financial distress has a significant positive effect on earnings management, while managerial ability and audit committee have no significant effect. In addition, the COVID-19 pandemic is found not to play a significant role in moderating the relationships between financial distress, managerial ability, or audit committee and earnings management. Therefore, based on these findings, only the first hypotheses of this study are accepted, while the others are rejected.
