ABSTRACT

This study discusses the Joint statement cooperation on a comprehensive comprehensive partnership between Indonesia and China in the 2015-2018 periodization which has many sectors in it. In these sectors there are big goals for infrastructure development in Indonesia that have many opportunities and obstacles in their implementation. This research raises the research question "How is the Implementation of Joint Statement on Strengthening Comprehensive Strategic Partnership cooperation in the field of infrastructure between Indonesia and China in Indonesia for the period 2015 - 2018?". To answer these questions, researchers used theories related to bilateral relations and national interests. The results of the study show that in some sectors there are successes and there are also those that have not been implemented, but the collaboration between the two countries continues for the next few years and has promising prospects especially in the fields of security, culture and trade.
